ANTONIO DÍAZ

SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

SUMMARY Software developer with a background in project management, building large-scale web platforms using TypeScript, Go, and Rust. Based in Madrid, Spain.

EXPERIENCE TELEFÓNICA/FON | Madrid (ES) 2023 – Present

Full stack developer. movistarplus.es: Streaming near-real-time web application.

Stack: React, TypeScript, Node.js, GraphQL, HLS/DASH.

- Development of multilingual web and backend BFF applications for European and American markets with several million concurrent playbacks.
- Contributed to libraries, including Google's Shaka-player (PR 9943, PR 6022).
- Refactored several functionalities and their caching systems to improve latency, helping other teams working with different devices replicate our success in their implementations.
- Introduced types to a Node.js codebase (TypeScript) as well as testing best practices.
- Led cross-team efforts to find and solve hard-to-reproduce bugs across systems.
- Currently migrating this service into Movistar Plus+, working transversally across engineering, design, and product teams on a complete platform redesign and merging the business logic of both platforms.

THRIVE MARKET/DISTILLERY | Moscow (RU) – L.A. (US) 2019 – 2022

Full stack developer. thrivemarket.com: e-commerce competing with Amazon Fresh in the US market.

Stack: TypeScript, React, Cypress, Rust.

- Synchronization with cross-functional teams across different time zones (US – CEE/CIS).
- Refactored web client to Next.js by writing a full suite of E2E tests with Cypress beforehand to support the 18-month migration process.
- Implemented new modules related to different payment systems.
- A/B testing and experimentation with Amplitude.
- Managed cleanup, shutdown, and replacement of legacy sites and endpoints, including infrastructure and redirections.

ASTROSHOCK | Moscow (RU) 2017 – 2019
